BLAINE APPEALS FOR ECONOMY IN CITIES OF STATE

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS SHOULD BRING ABOUT REDUCTION IN EXPENSES.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGE

More concerned with profits than with economy in local government.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison.—"Let me remind the local officers that privilege is entrenched in government and is more concerned with profits than with economy in political affairs."

So declares Governor Blaine in an appeal to municipal officers and others concerned in cutting the cost of government and carrying out the program of economy.

Describing how he had succeeded with a legislature which he said to be "hostile" in holding the tax rate increase for the year to "only ten cents on each thousand dollars of assessed value," the governor said that during the first year of his administration no departments had exceeded their appropriations, no new commissions had been established, there had been no state tax levy for state expenses, and the state levy for university and normal schools had been the same as it has been for a number of years.

Municipal officers were urged to bring forth at the various spring elections a program of economy. People should begin with the Spring elections, he said, to bring about a sensible government in the interest of all concerned, commencing with local government, the county government, and concluding with the state government. "The interest of all should be kept foremost in mind in seeking to it that men who have the people's interests at heart will be placed in legislative positions," Governor Blaine declared.

The statement of Governor Blaine follows in part:

"For the first year of my administration, the average rate of taxation was increased ten cents on each thousand of assessed value. The taxes for 1922, payable in 1922-23, due in part to my veto measures—will show a substantial decrease—the first decrease in 25 years."

"Hostile" Legislature.

"When I became governor, I found the majority of the legislature and some of the departments of state and state officers, in opposition to my program of economy. I found the press in most cases hostile, and instead of helping to curb extravagance, it encouraged extravagance.

"I found that many departments of government had over-run their appropriations and had resorted to emergency appropriations for the biennium of 1919-1920 to $17,600,000. I notified all departments that no more emergency appropriations would be allowed, and the report of the first year of my administration shows that not a single department has overrun its appropriation.

"There was no increase of expenses during the year and there will be no state tax levy for highway of $1,700,000, and an equal amount by counties or $2,100,000, expired this year and will not be levied next year; the state tax levy for normal school and university is the same as it has been for a number of years.

Needs Local Assistance.

"I need the assistance of local officers in reducing the cost of government. With a hostile legislature, I could only veto appropriations or veto expenditures where that power had been delegated to the governor. I have not hesitated to use my veto power in the interests of economy."

"I was able to save large sums in this way, but I could adopt no construction program or a comprehensive legislative program. Impressed with the necessity of working in harmony with the state administration, and lowering the burdens of taxation in the state and redistributing the same to make wealth pay its fair share."

The letter is to all state, city, town and village officers and the governor asks that it be read at town meetings at the spring election. Also he appeals for a legislature which will support him.

NEW SCHOOL TO BE BIG CIVIC CENTER

Finish by September, Hope Expressed at Laying of Cornerstone.

Expressions of hope that the new high school building be used as a great community center for social and civic purposes and that the building would be ready for occupancy either by September, 1923, or surely by January, 1922, were made at the laying of the cornerstone Saturday afternoon, with brief and informal ceremonies. A light rain kept the attendance down to less than 100, including most of the alermen and school board members.

"The laying of this cornerstone marks an important epoch in the history of education in Janesville and its assurance of its advancement," declared Jessie Earle, president of the board of education. "More schools are being built now than before because of two reasons; construction costs have been prohibitive and classes are educating the children earlier today than they have in the past, fully realizing the value of an acre of education have little chance in the struggle for existence. In a few years attendance has doubled in the schools in other cities as well as in Janesville, and schools are crowded so that we are straining every effort to have the children in the building by September. I want to say at this time that Janesville has the most enthusiastic school spirit I have ever seen, and it augurs well for the future of the city."

Mr. Faule thanked the council for the co-operation given the board in giving Janesville the best high school building possible.

Through adopting the best features of other schools and our own and eliminating their mistakes, we hope to have the best high school and community building in the northwest," he declared.

Facilities for Community.

Students in the new high school will have facilities which Janesville children never before have had. Francis Grant, chairman of the building committee of the board said:

"In the building, we have included many features which we might have left out he said. "I used to think education meant merely the study of books but today educators have found other methods which are highly beneficial. I now believe that play in the school was nothing more than play but I have come to see that athletic games help to train the body, train them in discipline, and self-control so that now I believe these things are as valuable to the student as anything else derived from the study of books."

Mr. Grant told of some of the features of the high school building, the auditorium seating 1,600, which will be one of the largest in the state; a cafeteria with a seating capacity of 400, so that the students may get substantial meal two gymnasiums which may be thrown into one when the occasion arises; and an atrium held which will extend many hundred feet to the north of the building.

"The building," said Mr. Grant, "should be used as well by grownups as by the children, for social and civic purposes with the hope that out of it will grow a better spirit of co-operation and so there will be far fewer hours when it will not be in use."

Mayor Assures Money.

Major Welsh, the third speaker on the program, said he felt like the others that the high school is a step forward, putting Janesville in the front ranks in the state in educational circles, and a project of which the city should be proud. He added the campaign started nine years ago which has culminated in the construction of the new high school building.

"I wish to assure the citizens that the council will provide further funds for the equipment, as they have for the completion of the building," he said. "It may be ready for occupancy by September, but I gravely doubt it, but at least by January, 1923."

All of the documents of interest were locked in a copper box and placed in the hollow in the cornerstone of Bedford stone, a mason covered the hole with a piece of stone which had been cut out, the crane swung the stone in, the stone beard officials through the master and the job was completed by expert workmen. The cornerstone is in a conspicuous place to the right of the main entrance to remind future generations that one of the greatest buildings ever erected in Janesville was started in 1921.

In St. Louis there is an attempt in the Livestock Exchange to freeze out the now farmers' co-operative commission houses. The result is that the St. Louis dispute will affect every farmer shipping stock.

If the game of freezeout can be played in St. Louis by the commission men, it can be played in Chicago, where Rock county farmers ship their stock. It is the beginning of a bitter fight between the farmers and co-operative association and the old commission men, with each side fighting for its very existence. The case has been taken to the United States courts.

Would you like to see Congress adopt the national daylight saving law?

W. J. Hall, R. I.—"I wouldn't be in favor of it. It starts the day earlier than the rest of the country, and it would be more or less. It is all right for people in the city who go riding, but not for the poor farmer who has to work."

MILTON UNION IS HIGH IN HONORS

Wins Leading Places in Livestock Judging Contests at Madison Test

Finishing first in the dairy judging contest, fourth in the livestock judging match and winning the individual stock judging championship set the record of the achievements of the Milton Union high school team Rock county's representative, in the state meet at Madison last week.

Russell O'Connor, a member of the team emulated the record of Harry McCann, of Janesville high school, in winning the individual championship in the livestock judging contests, competing with representatives of 13 teams from high schools in Wisconsin. In keeping the championship in Rock for the second successive year, O'Connor set a record of 772.9 points, as compared with 768.4 the figure made by his closest opponent for premier honors.

Close to 1000 points

The Milton Union team won the dairy contest with a total of 916.08 points and was fourth in the livestock contest.

Considering that every member of the team was inexperienced and had never competed in stock judging contests before this year, the record of the Rock county high school establishes it as a leading example of what the high school agricultural classes are doing to make "Rock County First." Members of the team are Ralph O'Connor, Harry Ruett and Glenn Gary. The men are coached by R. E. Kellogg who has been teaching agriculture at Milton Union for several years.

Many Teams Entered

The contests were held at the University of Wisconsin stock pavilion. Entered in the meet were teams from the following high schools: Menasha, Prairie du Sac; Omro, Gilman, Boscobel, Galeville, Waterloo, Elkhorn, St. Croix Falls, Viroqua, Shabbona, Barron, Milton Junction, Livingston, Waukesha, Neillsville and Wabeno.

St. Croix Falls remained permanent possession of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders Association cup by winning the contest with 2081.9 points as they did in 1921.

O'Connor and Rumf of Milton Union placed in the first ten students, who will go to the state fair judging contest at Milwaukee to decide who shall represent Wisconsin at the national dairy show in Chicago next winter.

GIRL GIVES BAD CHECK TO PUNISH "FRESH" JEWELER

Chicago—Miss Margaret Murray, eighteen and decidedly easy to look at, turned into the jewelry store of Morris Kastner, 111 N. Dearborn street, after a ring she had left to be repaired. Then she found she didn't have enough cash to pay for the repairs. Shifting his eyes momentarily from Miss Murray's eyes he noticed a check book in her open bag. "Oh, a check will be all right," he ventured. And a moment later as he took the check, "and perhaps a little dinner wherever you say, Miss Fashions."

"I don't thank you. I never accept dinner engagements," and she tramped lightly out of the store.

Kastner came back to earth and more mercenary things. He examined the check. It was bad. Miss Murray was located by police.

"I had no intention of signing other than my own name until she got fresh," she explained to police. Miss Murray was seen home with a warning not to try to punish any more stores with bad checks.

TWO FORD COUPES ARE STOLEN HERE

Both Thefts Occur on East Milwaukee Street Within an Hour.

Despite extra measures taken by police to safeguard automobiles, two late model Ford coupes were stolen here, Saturday night, one from Leslie C. Stukins, of the C. Ed. Noss Grocer company, and the other from C. L. Thompson, local agent of the Val Blatz Brewing company. Both were stolen from garages on Milwaukee street between 8 and 9 o'clock.

The Stukins machine, a 1922 model bought by him last week, was taken from in front of Hough's barber shop. The Thompson car, 1921 model, was standing in front of the Chamber of Commerce.

The unique part of the theft of Mr. Thompson's car was that although he has driven a car around Janesville the past three years he had never left the key in the car parking downtown Saturday night, however, he removed the key, he can't explain why. And the car was taken.

Seek to Clear Technical Mix Over Treaty

Washington—Two methods of clearing up the technical Senate tangle over the four power Pacific treaty and its two supplements were under consideration Monday by the Republican leaders while the Senate continued its debate on the supplemental treaty, excluding the Japanese mainland from the scope of the four power treaty.

Adoption of separate resolution ratifying the supplemental declaration, including mandated islands and excluding domestic questions from operation of the four power treaty was one method. The other plan under consideration by the majority leaders was inclusion in the resolution ratifying the Japanese mainland treaty of the reservations affecting the mandated islands and domestic questions. Ratification of the Japanese mainland supplemental treaty within a few days was predicted.

Leaders planned to proceed with voting on the supplement despite the absence of fifteen senators on the Muscle Shoals inspection trip.

DOWNTOWN DISTRICT IS CANVASSED FOR MONEY FOR RUSSIANS

Large contributions for the Russian Relief fund of the city were taken in all the churches at the regular exercises Sunday and with 12 men canvassing the business section Monday and Tuesday, the full quota of $2500 was easily met by Tuesday night. Many churches turned over all the collection for the drive, while others took separate collections. The response was general.

Postmaster J. J. Cunningham, county chairman, has not received amounts from all the churches, but feels confident the funds will swell the total a great deal.

The business men and professional men of the city were divided into classes and canvassed, starting Monday morning. One committee saw the lawyers, another the doctors, another the merchants.

The house immediately plunged into a fight over the item.

FRENCH FARMERETTE FACES LOSS OF FARM SHE PUT ON EFFICIENT BASIS

Mile Gouze with part of the live stock she has raised.

Mile Gouze, well educated French woman, elected to do her bit for France when the war broke out by becoming a farm hand. After the war she joined the reconstruction movement and leased a barren farm near Chantilly from a government organization. She converted it into a valuable piece of property, well stocked and cultivated. Now she faces loss of the farm and the results of her labor. The renewed rental on the farm, under the conditions of the lease, was to be 20,000 francs, $7,000 more than the initial rental. She was ready to pay this amount, but under the regulations the land must go to the highest bidder when that rental is to be renewed. And a worthy farmer has bid 40,000 francs. Public opinion, though, may aid Mile Gouze in keeping the farm.

The unique part of the theft of Mr. Thompson's car was that although he has driven a car around Janesville the past three years he had never left the key in the car parking downtown Saturday night, however, he removed the key, he can't explain why. And the car was taken.

3-DAY CONFERENCE POLICE WIN AGAIN OF BOYS CLOSES IN WAR ON "MOON"

First City Boys' Meet Is Success—Coe Pettit Gives $104—Zillner Case to Grimm

With an attendance of 50, all enthusiastic, the last session of the first city Older Boys' Conference was held Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. The conference opened Friday with a basketball game attended by 100, and was continued with an athletic meet Saturday afternoon.

Rev. C. E. Coen, Methodist church, was the chief speaker Sunday. It was a follow-up talk, the result of talk of Friday night, when a definite challenge was issued to high school boys to make the clean life popular.

Elvin Crispus sang. An invited attraction was the playing of Coe Pettit, tenor pianist of Chicago, who is to appear at the MacDowell club concert at Library hall Monday night.

Saturday afternoon's activities proved popular. Soccer baseball and a war game were played. The "Whites," captained by H. Hill, won two of the three war games, while the "Keds," led by Elvin Crispus, won two out of three cage baseball games. Cage baseball and a Scotch tennis were also played. Ray Peterson won, getting 6 pencils in the pentagonal when 100 were thrown from the balcony to the gym floor. A swim in the tank came later.

Those on the "Reds" team were George Renaud, Arthur Schultz, Don Blacker, Charles Greenidge, Maurice Krueger, Alan Decker, Albert Sauer, L. Shultz, Fred Wood, Vern Jones and Parker Farnham. The "Whites" consisted of H. Hill, Stuart Ray, Peter Olson, H. G. and Roger Hutchinson, H. Cunnane, Ernest Boyer, and Lyle Seeman.

Physical Director A. E. Bergman and A. C. Preston took charge of the affair.

Proceeding the meeting Sunday afternoon, representatives of 8 clubs of the city met and planned a program of activities for older boys. There were 27 men present, led in the discussion by Rev. J. A. Meirson, Presbyterian church. A motion was carried to have a program worked up by the City Boys' Work committee and submitted later.

CATCH MAN WHO TOOK CAR AT ALLIANCE; HELD TO MADISON COURT

W. E. North, charged with stealing a car from the farm of Ephraim H. Springer, town of Allenton, was freed yesterday. He was bound over to the superior court at Madison by Justice of the peace at Stoughton when he was brought back Saturday night.

According to Chief of Police Ben Springer, whose prompt work in identifying Allenton's cities, resulted in the man's arrest, North had planned to drive the car to Dubuque, Iowa, where he would notify Hippo and abandon it. North was arrested Saturday morning when Deputy Sheriff P. H. Roddy found him asleep in the car. The license number had been removed.

WIRELESS CONCERT RELAYED BY USING CITY TELEPHONES

"Hello, Gazette, listen to this." That was the matter of fact way Archdeacon Cullen, superintendent of the county farm announced the first combination wireless telephone-city telephone circuit ever completed in this city. The historic meeting event occurred Saturday afternoon.

Anderson, State Man, Tells Needs OF RURAL SCHOOLS

Four hundred, undernourished children, irregular attendance, dilapidated school and lack of money were among some of the reasons given by W. L. Anderson of the state department of education, for poor progress of pupils in the rural school, speaking at the teachers' conference at the Rock county teachers' conference here Saturday afternoon.

Teachers should leave to deal with children as individuals and not as a class, he said. This would greatly augment their success in the profession and would be for the mutual benefit of the teacher and pupil.

County Superintendent O. D. Ansdel, Miss Mizpah Bennett and Prin. Frank J. Lowth also spoke. Educational possibilities of different children were shown in the talk on "Getting a Line on Johnny," by three training school teachers. Many teachers took advantage of the question box conducted by Prin. Lowth.

Africa was studied in the geography advanced class under the direction of Miss Elsa Jacobson, by the problem method. More reference books, it is said, are needed in the rural schools before this method can be taught successfully.

During the morning session, an outline of the teaching was worked out by Mr. Lowth and students. Arithmetic, civics and history should be correlated in the teaching of taxes, it was said.

The sending of the wireless concert via telephone is similar to a less refined ship receiving hundred miles away, trying to talk with his sweetheart at Brooklyn, N. Y., who hooked up in the same manner with the city phone service, called his number through central and held his conversation.

Windows were unveiled at 7:30 Wednesday night displaying a fine collection of the season's accessories. Luxurious wyrans or algorquin blue, luscious and mallow graces, the window showing feminine apparel. There was one especially attractive dinner gown of periwinkle blue with stripes, many natty sport suits, a score of beaded and brocade pattern hats.

The showing of garments for men was marked with smartly cut top coats and suits of gray and tweed mixtures with a large assortment of hats and shoes. The window in front of the arcade had an array of floss and slippers. Of these the new two-toned suede and buckskin sport Oxford were most conspicuously stylish. Many out of town people visited Janesville during the past week attending the opening.

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM

Auto tourist camp large enough and attractive enough to care for the thousands who will visit Wisconsin during the summer of 1922.

Bend every energy to finish the high school building as early as may be before the end of 1922. With the completion, the problem of community center will be solved.

Janesville needs and should have ample hotel facilities to care for the tourists. The city will be especially pleased if the high school is completed and the auditorium is available for the largest conventions.

Finish the paving of Janesville streets as soon as the money necessary becomes available in taxation so as not to place a heavy burden on the people.

Give the city management in municipal affairs.

Establish the city government in form of government, estimation and enforcement.

Give the city a park. There is now available $10,000 for this purpose and it should not be used for any other. Plush the city and zoning plan.

Memorial building for World war soldiers,

the living and the dead—to be also an historical building.

CUTTING DOWN MUNICIPAL EXPENSES.

While the political incentive is rather clear in the appeal of the governor to the people of the state prior to the spring elections, no one will be able to successfully contravert the statements
he makes in reference to the need for economy and the selection of officials who will assist in carrying out the program for less taxation and decreasing the burden on the people.

And his words should sink home everywhere
when he says, "Let me remind the local officers that Privilege is entrenched in government and is MORE CONCERNED IN PROFITS THAN IN ECONOMY in political affairs.

The dictum of privilege that a great expenditure is a type of progress may generally be sifted to a large percentage for special favors to that privilege either already delivered or sought for the future. This has been heretofore, and always will be the weakness of municipal government
no matter where it may be. The governor's appeal for economy is timely and pertinent to the situation. Of those seeking higher taxes or giving them support the governor says,
they "are more concerned with profits and shifting the burdens of taxation." They are quite willing they should be high if they do not have to pay them."

Perhaps he might have added in reference to
the pleas of special privilege, with the suffering
Job who answered the "wise" men, arguing with him, "No doubt but YE ARE the people and wisdom shall die with YOU." Anyhow the governor's appeal for economy in municipal government will fall on receptive ears at this time of general retrenchment in business and private affairs.

After ratification the senator from Maryland
looked like a devastated France.

THE RESIGNATION OF TOWNLEY.

General regret will follow the resignation of A.
J. Townley from the presidency of the non-partisan league. One could always place Mr. Townley, like one may a case of small pox. He was the best man for the place because he was its spirit and guiding star. The league was the creature of his brain and energy in his endeavor to establish a variation of socialist government under the guise of a mutual organization for the marketing of wheat and to be backed by the treasury of the state. The very weight of the political machinery which he deemed necessary to build destroyed the organization in its birthplace and disintegrated it elsewhere. Wisconsin alone is the hope of the league now, since it is here we have a fruitful field and a place where the wrecking crew can look for the most spoils.

Townley was always easily placed. There was no difficulty about that and it had been hoped that he would abide with the scuttled ship until it floated to its final engulfment in the open sea of popular disapproval. But he has deserted the captain's bridge, following a general mutiny. He attempted to take the league out of politics as a chief factor in its existence and have adopted a "balance of power" plan whereby the league
would make no nominations of itself but support here and there candidates as they presented themselves. That was a plan already in use here in Wisconsin and quite effective in 1920. But the die-hards in North Dakota wanted none of that and defeated Mr. Townley on that issue. So discredited and deserted he accepted the way of detention by resignation. It will be interesting to note what will now happen. The failure of the league is the inevitable failure of class organization in politics in a nation so widely diversified as to activities and employments.

Judge Gary has offered a prize for a poem on transportation. Pass the prize money; here is the poem:

"No railroad boss will ever
Pass through the pearl gates
Until he gets things moving
By cutting down the rates."

AN UNFAIR TARIFF

The Fair Tariff league calls attention to the closing of a Canadian kerosene factory as a result of the emergency tariff and thinks that is a pertinent argument against protection. Well, we have a few of our own factories closed because we have had no tariff, notably the toy and dye industries which came during the war and have practically been wiped out by importation of cheaper foreign goods. It is a peculiar and no-necessity attribute of some of the good friends of the world that "fairness" always means something for the man across the water and not for America. We have a regular propaganda in foreign nations while our own children age

Fifty Years of Arbor Day

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—Arbor Day of this year will be celebrated with more enthusiasm than usual, as it will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the institution of Arbor Day. Ceremonies celebrating this semi-centennial will be held all over the United States. Some foreign countries have followed the American lead and set aside a tree planting day.

J. Sterling Morton is responsible for the idea.
Having taken up his residence in Nebraska, then known as the "treeless state," he put forth the idea of having an annual tree planting day. At a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture of Nebraska, held in Lincoln on January 4, 1872, he introduced a resolution "that Wednesday, the 10th day of April, 1872, be . . . especially set apart and consecrated for tree planting in the state of Nebraska." The resolution was adopted, and prizes were offered for the individual and the county society responsible for planting the greatest number of trees on this occasion. The plan received wide publicity, and more than a million trees were planted in Nebraska on that day.

Two years later Gov. Furnas, of Nebraska, set aside the 3rd day of April as Arbor Day, and in 1885 the State Legislature passed an act designating April 22, Mr. Morton's birthday, as Arbor Day, and making it a legal holiday.

From its inception until the present day, Arbor Day has been celebrated enthusiastically in Nebraska. Tree planting was no new thing in the state, as the earliest settlers found the lack of timber a serious drawback. Not only was wood needed for fuel and fence posts, but wooded areas for the protection of field crops and fruit trees from winds sweeping across this flat country were imperative. But until Mr. Morton gave his idea to the state, tree planting had been haphazard. Nearly a billion trees have been planted in the state since the institution of Arbor Day.
Instead of being the "treeless state," Nebraska is now one of the leaders in practical forestry, it being estimated that 700,000 acres have been planted in trees. In 1895, in recognition of this great change, the Nebraska legislature passed a resolution giving the state the popular name of "The Tree Planter's State."

Kansas and Tennessee were the next states to take to the idea, following the lead of Nebraska in 1875. The following year Minnesota joined the ranks. Kansas was much the same sort of territory as Nebraska, and the same reasons impelled the action of that state. Minnesota was forested, but the white pine there was being destroyed at such an alarming rate, with no provision for future requirements, that the Arbor Day idea got a quick response there.

After Minnesota adopted the idea, there was a wait of some years. Then in 1882 North Dakota and Ohio began to celebrate the day. The first celebration in Ohio gave a new angle to the spread of the idea. At a national forestry convention in Cincinnati the school children took a prominent part, 20,000 of them parading through the streets to Eden Park, where trees were planted in memory of great men. The children participated in singing and reciting, and in putting soil about the roots of the newly planted trees. This occasion was the inauguration of making Arbor Day a school festival and of planting memorial trees an-groves.

These new developments came to be known as "The Cincinnati plan" and are regarded as largely responsible for the spread of the Arbor Day idea throughout the rest of the United States, and even beyond. As a school festival Arbor Day is observed throughout the country. Ontario in 1887 set aside the first Friday in May as a flower and tree planting day. The plan was officially adopted in Spain in 1895. Hawaii took it up in 1905.
Arbor Day is now recognized and celebrated in all of the dependencies of the United States, in Great Britain, Canada, Australia, the British West Indies, South Africa, New Zealand, France, Norway, Russia, Japan, and China.

Climatic conditions make the observance of this occasion occur at various times of the year throughout the world. In Alabama and Texas as well as other places a day already a holiday has been selected. In the two states named Washington's birthday is also Arbor Day. In Jamaica the day is celebrated on Queen Victoria's birthday. In many of our states it is combined with Bird Day.
The date is earlier in the South and later in the North of our own country, the dates running from February to May.

Perhaps he might have added in reference to
the pleas of special privilege, with the suffering
Job who answered the "wise" men, arguing with

wisdom shall die with YOU." Anyhow the

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a milder laxative and they do not irritate the liver. It is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't irritate the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why carry tablets at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes piles up in the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take it in place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "dry" and "heavy." Then "clear" clouded brain and "spark up" the spirits. Yes and No.

B. E. Skinner Named Association Officer

Bert Skinner, Beloit, has been named vice president of the Wisconsin Brown Swiss Association. The state session was held in Waukesha, L. E. Pennwell, Brooklyn, was president and B. H. Hibbard, Madison, secretary-treasurer. Ira L. Beloit, national secretary, attended the meeting.

To Name Committee for Marketing Milk

The following statement is from the Wisconsin department of markets: "Prices for the 1921 tobacco crop have not come up to expectations of those growers who made their cleanup and had a better crop in order to secure a correspondingly better price for the 1921 crop. They have sold the filler and ragged end, between 23 and 35 per cent of the crop, for from 5 to 6 cents, while the good end today hardly brings 7 cents. Although this figure is very disappointing, several growers have let their tobacco go at that price. They need the money to pay taxes, help, and to swing the outlay of the approaching planting season."

The department of markets has gone into the situation and considers that the most important problem confronting the tobacco growers in Wisconsin is the organization of a pool similar to those in Kentucky and Virginia. It is pointed out that while the choice Wisconsin tobacco does not bring at the present time more than 12 cents a pound, tobacco in Kentucky is selling this year at 20 to 25 cents a pound, and tobacco in Virginia as high as 40, 50 and 60 cents a pound. In the opinion of the tobacco specialist of the department of markets this wide discrepancy between Wisconsin tobacco prices and those in Kentucky and Virginia is due not so much to the difference in the type of tobacco product or in production as to the absence of a tobacco marketing organization among the Wisconsin tobacco growers. Last year, before the pooling system of tobacco marketing was introduced in the southern states of the so-called Burley district, tobacco was selling there at less than in Wisconsin. The organization of the tobacco pool, which took place last February, had an almost immediate effect in raising tobacco, with the result that unorganized Wisconsin tobacco growers are left in the cold, so far as prices are concerned. The sooner Wisconsin growers realize the tremendous advantages of tobacco pooling, the sooner will they be in a position to command prices for their tobacco similar to those of Kentucky and Virginia."

Name W. Harrington Chairman in Lima

At the annual meeting of the Lima Township Farm Bureau, W. L. Harrington was elected chairman in the place of W. B. Morgan, who found it impossible to carry on his bureau work this year. O. J. Berg was elected secretary-treasurer. The officers elected were: one man from each school district to serve as school directors committee men.

It is the intention of the newly elected officers to adopt an active program of work for Lima and make it one of the best farm bureau townships in the county the coming year.

George W. Hull gave an address on township farm bureau work. He advocated the spraying of orchards, cooperative organizations for selling farmers' commodities, better schools, and gravel roads for all the farmers under a parson system, in preference to cement roads.

Charles Marquette, chairman of the Jacksonville township Farm Bureau spoke on loyalty to farm organizations.

Prof. J. G. Halpin, head of the poultry department at the college of agriculture, gave an excellent talk on the care of the farm poultry flock. He advised the farms not to go into the poultry business on too big scale, or it would be like some other farm projects—too much overdone. He believes that communities should store their own eggs, and not drop them on the market. He told the farmers that the farm flocks should be culled and the non-producers weeded out.

Prof. Halpin advised the use of carbolicum, to eradicate mites in the henhouse, and the use of sodium fluoride to free the hens of lice.

The Ladies' Aid served a dinner to more than 100 people.

The Ladie's Aid served a dinner to more than 100 people.

Jefferson to Market Apples by Federation

Several Wisconsin communities are planning marketing organizations for their apples this coming season, the college of agriculture reports.

Already orchardists in Jefferson county are laying plans to enlarge upon the apple grading and selling organization which they inaugurated last year. F. R. Gifford, extension horticulturist at the University of Wisconsin, reports that more than 1,200 Jefferson county trees bore hundreds of bushels of sound, clean apples.

To demonstrate the advantages of working Jefferson county farmers started Wisconsin's first co-operative apple marketing association. Hundreds of bushels of apples were sold by this organization last year. So successful were their operations during the initial attempt it is said they are planning to increase their business considerably during the coming season. Mr. Gifford will also help organize similar marketing groups in other communities of the state where they are experiencing difficulty in disposing of their apples.
